DOG EAT DOG.

Again the News-Democrat stumbles. The late Republican general council did not dump $18,000 into the city lighting plant. The Republican general council, under the leadership of Alderman Earl Palmer, declined to stand for the dumping of $18,000, and thereby brought down upon the head of the leader the most scurrilous attacks from the local press. It is the vindication of Alderman Palmer and the endorsement of the economical program of the Republican general council in the purchase of equipment over which The Sun laments. With the manner in which the lighting plant is managed, and the failure to charge up "depreciation and repairs," neither The Sun nor the late Republican general council has anything to do. The management of the plant and the control of the funds appropriated for the current expenses of the plant are in the hands of the Democrats and always have been since the plant was built. The Republican general council did not even have anything to do with the creation of the necessity for new equipment; but since it was decided to retain the plant, the Democratic officials, who have had charge of the plant and are responsible for its condition, said new equipment was necessary. It then was the duty of the Republican general council to assume the burden of purchasing the apparatus. The purchase was made, at a less cost than recommended, and in the face of the most pessimistic prophecy. The result was that the complimented the Republican general council on its purchase.

If the News-Democrat thinks there is anything lacking, or crooked, or overdone or underdone in the management of the Paducah city lighting plant, please let it remember that the plant is managed by Democrats and always has been. They are responsible for conditions. The Republican general council was only responsible for purchasing machinery, which the superintendent said reduced the cost of operating.

The truth is that the present city administration is persona non grata with the faction of the Democratic party to which the News-Democrat adheres, and it is shooting at the administration over the shoulders of the Republicans.

It has abdicated the Korean throne. It would probably be more in sympathy with Japanese institutions.

That Californian who suggests buying warships with Standard Oil fines and calling them for prominent names in the indictments, should have spelled it "John Dough", instead of "Doe."

Plans of the Republican state committee indicate the nature of the campaign that is to be waged, and the Democratic "spread eagle" orators will be compelled to overhaul their stock phrases and dust off their vocabularies for the coming contest. All the old line-speakers of the Republican party, and younger men, who have yet their records to make, will appear in every county in the state. This is not to be a perfunctory campaign. Willson and Breathitt and Cox and the others of the same spirit and forensic ability will push the fight into the enemy's country.

The Courier-Journal in an editorial on the change of city administration in Louisville, extends to each ousted officeholder, "a measure of sympathy proportionate to his loss." Since the majority of them could scarcely make an honest living outside their offices, the heart of Henry Watterson must be overflowing with sympathy.

Every year finds the river trip becoming more and more popular. People living on the great inland waterways have learned that they have the cheapest kind of summer pleasure, rest and recreation at their very elbows. There is nothing else so restful as the lazy life of a passenger on a river steamer. The very motion of the boat is soothing. Lacking the disagreeable features of ocean and lake travel, the river trip cuts one off from telephones, telegraph and mails for long intervals and awakens a sense of abstraction from the busy world at home. One is compelled to give up to languor. There's no need of a Carlsbad with the Ohio, Tennessee and Cumberland rivers flowing past to the quiet land of peace and sleep. There is the rush and turmoil and changing of cars to reach summer resorts. There is the necessity of dressing for the crowds and the constant reminder of life's busy cares in the presence of a multitude. But the river trip begets a feeling of helpless irresponsibility, that doctors know to be a nerve building and a tonic.

As usual Mayor Yeiser has scribbled authority for his recommendation. It was Solomon, who said: "A false balance is an abomination."

The Louisville Herald has it "ohn-whallen-Beckham-Knott." The Louisville Post says "Kohn-whallen-Beckham-not."

The idea of Ed Leigh growing remissent. If he doesn't cut that out the young women will be asking him his age.

The choice of Judge E. Barry, editor of the Benton Tribune-Democrat, as president of the First district press organization insures its success along those lines most conducive to the real interests represented. Judge Barry puts energy and serious enthusiasm into every cause he espouses. Mr. Lawrence has already established his eminent fitness as secretary.

Latch Key Girl.

The girl with the latch key is something more than a newspaper joke.—Mrs. Lorin F. Deland.
You bet she is!
That sort of joke's alive today.
Tomorrow croaks.
But the latch key girl has come to stay
And she'll wear whiskers
And "pants" some day.
She'll smoke and drink
And bet and cuss
And be just like
The rest of us.
She isn't built
Exactly for
The grave affairs
Of state and war.
But what of that?
Her genius shines
Clean down a lot
Of other lines.
Hail to the latch key lady!
The coming times reveal
The hand that spans the baby
Running the automobile!

TOBACCO MARKET

IS FOR GUTHRIE

Reason We Could Not Land Big Dark Tobacco Meet

Local Association Officers Preparing to Attend Annual Barbecue of Organization.

RECENT SALES AT WAREHOUSE.

Paducah stands no chance to get the headquarters of the Dark Tobacco Growers' association of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, according to statements from local officers in the association. The Commercial club has been working to this end but the position Paducah holds in the scale of tobacco markets for the association, will prevent the securing of the association headquarters.

While Paducah is among the two or three big markets of tobacco in the world, as a market for the dark tobacco association it ranks several notches below the top. Guthrie, the present headquarters of the association, probably is as large a market for the association's tobacco, as Paducah, and Clarksville and Springfield, Tenn., and Hopkinsville all are larger. Before the headquarters would come to Paducah, it would have to wrest the positions held by these towns, in the amount of the association's product handled.

J. W. Morton, chairman of the McCracken county executive committee of the Dark Tobacco Growers' association, will leave the latter part of next week for Guthrie to attend the meeting of the executive committee for the whole association. Subjects of great importance to the association will be discussed. The meeting will last two days.

A. N. Veal, salesman for the association here, held sales this week in which 250 hogheads of tobacco were sold, at prices up to any reached this year. There is no prospect of a slump in quotations on tobacco. The associations here is holding 200 or more hogheads of Italian tobacco. These will be sold when the market is judged to be favorable.

Don't Want Home—Just Beg.

Professional beggars do not bother Will Thompson, keeper of the county poor farm, that is not more than once; and then they give him a wide berth. This morning he stood in front of the Mattie-Efinger undertaking shop and a beggar well known on the streets, pretending to be blind, asked for assistance.

"Come, go with me, and I will give you a place to rest the remainder of your days," he stated. The beggar looked at him for a while and started off.

"Oh, I don't want to go to the poor house," he exclaimed, recognizing the county poor farm keeper for who he is.

"That's the way many of them do me," Thompson declared. "They beg from habit, because I can give them a home, the county judge has tried to do so, but they prefer to beg."

Chief Orders Mayor to Clean Up.

Everybody looks alike to Fire Chief James Wood, and this does not except the mayor. When it comes to duty Chief Wood treats them all alike, and handed the mayor a notice yesterday afternoon to clean up an attic. The notice was presented to him formally by a member of the fire department sent as a special messenger from the fire chief's office. The notice read the same as others, ordering the mayor to at once remove excelsior, old boxes and other debris and trash in an attic of his property at Fifth street and Broadway, over the Walker drug store.

Miss Crow's Revival.

Miss Birdie Crow, a woman evangelist, is holding a most successful meeting at Grahamville, in the county. Miss Crow has held meetings in McCracken county for three years. She is noted for the plainness of her statements and occasionally "takes the hide off" of her audiences. Many conversions are reported from her meeting. Colonel and Mrs. Bud Dale of the New Richmond House, with several friends will go down to Grahamville Sunday to spend the day and hear Miss Crow preach.
